

Seminar at Oak Meadow Children's Centre

Tewkesbury Avenue ,Fareham, Hampshire, PO15 6LL

Monday 19th September 7pm to 9:30pm

Implications for children and young adults with a disability

FASS will be hosting a talk by Clive Yeadon on;

- Social service Assessments
- Transition to Adult services & post school Provision

Clive Yeadon is an independent social policy consultant and independent social worker; Clive has extensive expertise gained through 30 years of social work practice and management and through his work as a legal practitioner in social welfare law in the public Law Team at Ridley & Hall, a leading and innovative law firm in Huddersfield, West Yorkshire.

He now works as a freelance consultant, and independent social work adviser and is instructed by a number of leading law firms in relation to a range of matters concerning disabled children and adults with disability.

In addition to his social work expertise, he holds post-graduate qualifications in Education Law. This back ground puts him in the rare position of understanding the inter-relationship of social services and educational legislation.
